NCCN Report: Opportunities for Improvement in Breast Cancer

INTRODUCTION
The NCCN Guidelines Program and Opportunities for Quality Improvement
Stephen B. Edge

FEATURED ARTICLES

Process-Oriented Institutional Projects

Measuring Opportunities to Improve Timeliness of Breast Cancer Care at Dana-Farber/Brigham and Women’s Cancer Center
Craig A. Bunnell, Katya Losk, Sarah Kadish, Nancy Lin, Judith Hirshfield-Bartek, Linda Cutone, et al

Quality Improvement Project: Opportunities for Improvement
Nora M. Hansen, Sally Anne Scherer, and Seema Khan

Race of the Clock: Reducing Delay to Curative Breast Cancer Surgery
Loretta Loftus, Christine Laronga, Karen Coyne, and Lynne Hildreth

Reducing the Time From Initial Call to First Appointment: The Impact of Patient Access Redesign and a Nurse Navigation Program
Lori J. Goldstein, Bonnie J. Miller, Nancy Nicotera, and Delinda Pendleton

University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center
Opportunities for Improvement Project
Tara M. Breslin, Marcy Waldinger, and Samuel M. Silver

Optimizing the Quality of Breast Cancer Biomarker Use at Duke Cancer Institute
Arif H. Kamal, Steve Power, Gloria Broadwater, Audrey R. Holland, and Paul K. Marcom

Massachusetts General Hospital: Improving Patient Access to Breast Oncology Clinic
Inga T. Lennes, Mara Bloom, Nie Bohlen, and Beverly Moy

Breast Cancer Center: Improving Access to Patient Care
Jatinder Singh, Stephen B. Edge, Ermelinda Bonaccio, Kathleen Trapp Schwert, and Brian Braun

Guidelines-Targeted Institutional Projects

Quality Improvement in Breast Cancer Project: Compliance With Antiestrogenic Agents and Changing Patterns of Drug Use
Charles P. Borden, Charles L. Shapiro, Maria Teresa Ramirez, Linda Kotur, and William Farrar

Opportunities for Improvement: Experience at One Institution
Ronald S. Walters

Improving the Use of Intravenous Bisphosphonates in Women With Breast Cancer Metastatic to Bone
Joanne Mortimer and Mary Mendelsohn

The National Comprehensive Cancer Network® (NCCN®) appreciates that supporting companies recognize NCCN®’s need for autonomy in the development of the content of NCCN resources. All NCCN content is produced completely independently. NCCN Guidelines® are not intended to promote any specific therapeutic modality. The distribution of this report is supported by an educational grant from Pfizer.